

CHRIS KOKESH

Urban Folk with Rural Roots

Planting a Garden in October

lyrics and music by Chris Kokesh ©2008

It's raining and it's cold
It could freeze any day
I've got a shovel and a hoe
And I'm breaking through the clay
I'm out here on my hands and knees
Even though it looks like snow
Where there's a will there's a way
So something's got to grow

CHORUS

I'm planting a garden in October
And hoping it isn't over

There's a girl all dress in white
The sky was something blue
With red roses in full bloom
They both said "I do"
You and I sat side by side
As they walked down the aisle
When her roses landed in my hands
I thought I saw you smile

CHORUS

I still have the dried bouquet
That I caught on that perfect day
You'd think by now that I would know
I cannot make this garden grow
It's just the way the seasons go

CHORUS